Monkey Case Back Before High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The stage was set in the Supreme Court today for a replay of Tennessee's famed "monkey trial" without its carnival frenzy.

The Tennessee law that led to the dramatic 1925 duel between Clarence Darrow and William Jennings Bryan was killed by the state legislature last May.

But Arkansas and Mississippi continue to make the teaching of evolution a crime and today the court agreed to decide if the Arkansas law violates the right to teach and the freedom to learn.

These rights have been asserted by Mrs. Susan Epperson, 26, who claimed she could not teach biology properly in Little Rock's Central High School without explaining the Darwinian concept of evolution, and by H. H. Blanchard, who said his school-aged children should be exposed to all scientific theory.

The Arkansas law was upheld by the state Supreme Court June 5 as a "valid exercise of the state's power to specify the curriculum in its public schools."

Two Prison Escapees Apprehended

SALEM, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas authorities apprehended early Sunday one of the two men who escaped Feb. 25 from the Clinton County Jail at Plattsburg, Mo.

Officers said they captured Fred Lee Fudge, 33, of Kansas City, Kan., in the southern part of Fulton County, just north of Oxford in Izard County.

Still at large was Dick Dean Crouch, 25, of Kearney, Mo.

The manhunt that netted Fudge involved 11 State Police units, deputies from the Fulton and Izard County sheriffs' offices, the State Police airplane and tracking dogs from Cummins Prison Farm.

The search began Saturday after residents in the area of a vacant house on Arkansas 9 between Union and Wheeling reported seeing the car in which the pair had been traveling.

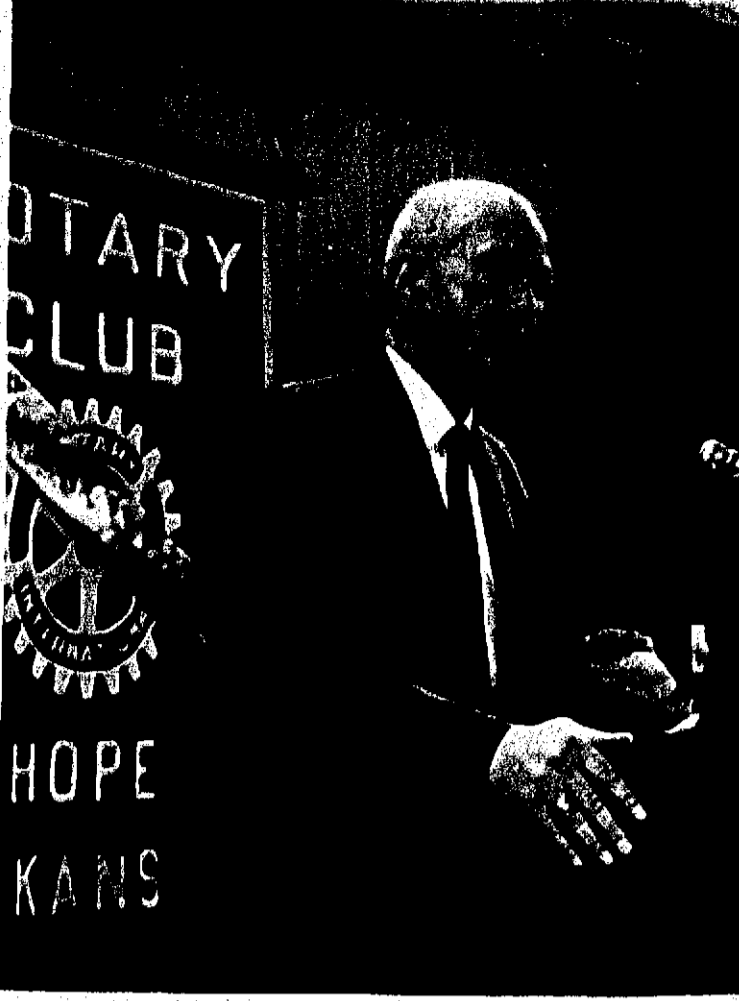

Officers said the two apparently had fled one foot after spending Friday night in the vacant house.

NEW YORK ZAP — Frank Erickson, 72, self-styled bookmaker since the 1920s who had $30 million in the bank during the Depression, died Saturday while being prepared for surgery. Erickson, who had several encounters with New York City and the federal government over more than $5 million owed in back taxes, once admitted he handled an average of $14 million in wagers every year.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Lt. Gen. Verne James McCaul, 65, former assistant commandant of the Marine Corps, died Saturday. McCaul, a decorated Marine aviator during World War II and the Korean conflict, served as assistant commandant from 1957 to his retirement in 1960.

Court Upholds Conviction of Negro

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court upheld today the conviction of a Phillips County Negro on misdemeanor charges growing out of a disturbance in downtown Helena.

Charles Edward Townsend, 34, of the Lexa community was found guilty in Helena Municipal Court Dec. 29, 1965, of public drunkenness, resisting arrest, assaulting an officer and disturbing the peace.

Townsend sought a reversal on three points, all relating to the defense of insanity. The high court, however, noted that no court records showed that there was a contention of insanity at the time of the trial.

Townsend had brought suit earlier in U. S. District Court charging that three members of the Helena police force and a former special officer violated his civil rights.

Townsend said he had been falsely arrested and pistol-whipped on Christmas Eve, 1965, but a jury, including four Negroes, acquitted the officers last June.

The Supreme Court also affirmed a Mississippi County Circuit Court decision granting $35,000 to Melba D. Gillespie for seven-town lots she owned which has Housing Authority for use in a low rent housing project.

The authority appealed on grounds that the appellee used "cost of replacement" and "capitalization" as a measure of damages, that the verdict was the result of prejudice against the authority and sympathy for the appellee and that the compensation was excessive.

The high court said it concluded that the three-points were without merit.

M. Dirksen dropped his opposition and offered the compromise bill worked out with a bipartisan civil rights bloc.

Dirksen's sponsorship of the compromise, introduced last Wednesday, failed to pick up as many Republican votes for cloture as he and others had expected.

The original open-housing proposal, offered by Sens. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., would have banned discrimination in the sale or rental of an estimated 97 per cent of the nation's housing.

The compromise cut back the coverage to about 70 per cent of the housing units, but opponents contend any open-housing legislation is an unconstitutional invasion of private property rights.

Mansfield indicated he feels the Senate, embroiled in the civil rights fight since mid-January, has spent about as much time as it can on one bill.

He said that so far as he knows the Senate has never before taken four cloture votes on any legislation.

Negroes in Protest at El Dorado

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — About 350 Negroes sang hymns and prayed for about two hours Sunday in downtown El Dorado to protest Friday's acquittal of Allen Smith, 17, of El Dorado, who had been charged with first degree murder.

The peaceful demonstration followed a 2 1/2 mile march from the northern outskirts of El Dorado to the Union County Courthouse.

Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Smith of El Dorado, was charged with the shotgun slaying last Sept. 30 of Larry Wainwright, 19, of El Dorado. Wainwright was a Negro.

The demonstration Sunday was sponsored by the NAACP Youth Council of El Dorado.

The Buddhists were probably the first to use prayer beads.

Many Americans Are Simply Ignoring LBJ Appeal on Travel

By LEWIS GULICK

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Many Americans apparently are ignoring President Johnson's appeal that they help ease the dollar drain by postponing travel outside the Western Hemisphere.

Officials handling a record volume of passport applications said they lack absolute proof but secondary evidence indicates many citizens decided to hurry visits to Europe ahead of a government tax on most overseas travel.

President Johnson announced on New Year's Day a broad program to stem a $3.5 billion balance-of-payments deficit. He appealed to "the American people to defer for the next two years all non-essential travel outside the Western Hemisphere."

Johnson said this could chop $500 million off the $2 billion deficit.

The administration later asked Congress for a tax of up to 30 per cent on U.S. tourists spending outside the Western Hemisphere. That legislation still is pending.

Passport Office figures show applications for U.S. passports rose to 131,502 in January, a 26 per cent increase over January a year ago.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service, which keeps tabs on the number of people actually leaving the country, said its statistics show travelers tend to depart about two months after receiving passports.

From the combined figures, officials have forecast 95,000 departures to Europe in March—about 3,000 a day. An estimated 65,000 traveled to Europe in February.

January's 26 per cent passport rise ran more than double the increase rate of recent months.

In past years, passport issuance climbed about 16 per cent a year. But the rate had dropped off to 10 per cent by last December and officials said they had expected the decline to

2 on Board Are Against Murton

CUMMINS PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — Two members of the five-member state Board of Corrections informed Prison

Suplt. Thomas O. Murton Saturday night that they were definitely not considering him for the position of commissioner of corrections.

Two of the members said they were still considering Murton and the fifth member, Dr. William Lytle of Clarksville, was slightly evasive.

Lytle told Murton that if the commissioner is to be "the man who has to keep the store, and work with other agencies, I don't think you are the man who has this particular strength."

Board Chairman John Haley of Little Rock told Murton he felt there were other persons more capable of handling the newly created job. Marshall Rush of Pine Bluff, a board member, agreed with Haley.

Dr. W. Payton Kolb of Little Rock and W. L. Currie of Osceola informed Murton that they were still considering him for the position.

Murton said last week that he had been promised the job of commissioner of corrections by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller when he agreed to come to Arkansas as assistant prison superintendent.

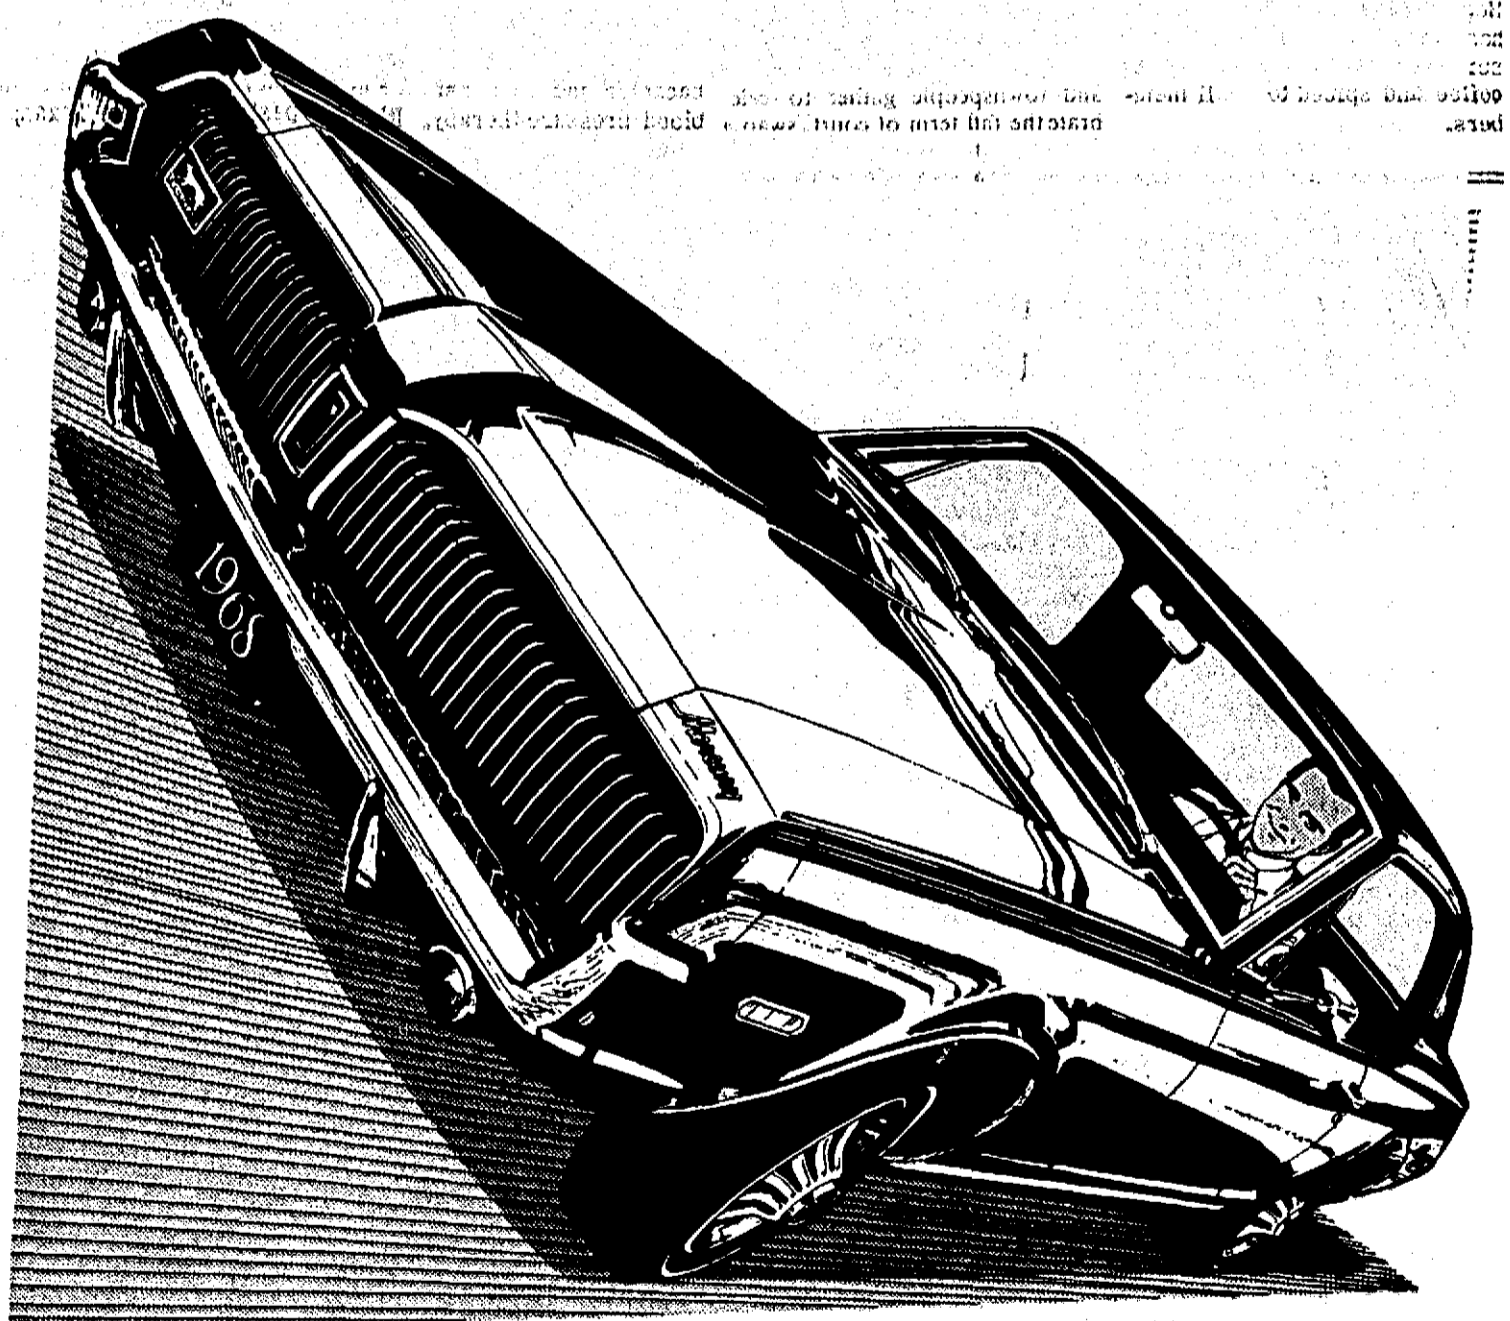

Murton said he had decided what he would do after the board named a commissioner but declined to elaborate.

"I don't see that you had a contract with the governor," Haley told Murton. "Had the governor made a commitment — and certainly he did not — I don't think this board is bound by it because . . . the board is operating on a system that is removed from the governor."

A BIG HATE

Dear Helen: I'm a mean old bachelor and I use hate for high blood pressure therapy. It's my steam valve.

I'm not gonna pull any punches! These dames who write to you about their "miserable" husbands are leeches. They get their hooks into a man, bleed him dry of money, nag, screech, criticize, then complain to you that he finally gave them the clout, they deserve, or maybe stayed out till 4 a.m. to get away from a dirty house, spoiled brats and a yacking wife.

I know a hundred cases where a man slaves to support a neurotic wife, but not one where the wife works to support a man who can no longer stand the pressure of the office. If she is forced to be the breadwinner, you can bet she tells him about it morning and night - until she finds another man!

The horse and buggy divorce laws make men rot in jail if they don't cough up outlandish alimony. But what man ever got alimony from a woman, even if she's loaded with money as well as liquor? Did you ever see a woman in jail for "non-support?"

Parasites, the lot of 'em! I proposed to a couple of dames, then suggested that we both go on working. End of romance! They skewered me with their sharp, fishwife tongues.

Proves my point, doesn't it? DOWN WITH WOMEN

Dear Down: It proves only that you've got a whole of "hate," and if you spout off at the wrong time in the wrong place, you're bound to get harpooned. Vive les dames! - H.

Dear Helen: The letter from "Nylons in my Wastebasket" sure hit home. Lutheran Church women all over the United States are collecting old nylon stockings for a marvelous project. We cut them up, loop and ball them, and then knit the nylon into warm blankets.

The blankets are then collected and shipped all over the world, wherever there is a need. For instance, most recently to Sicily where earthquakes hit, and in the past to flood-ridden Texas; Alaska after its earthquake, etc.

Please, readers, don't throw away old stockings. Contact your local Lutheran church, and if the women there can't use them, send them to: Women of St. Marks, Evangelical Lutheran Church, Rose and Grand Ave., Hackensack, N. J., 07601; or the Cross of Glory, Lutheran Church, Matawan, N. J.

Dear Helen: Another use for old nylons: Send them to an American Legion Auxiliary. Ours converts them into a variety of useful articles for charity projects. Mrs. A. Kolie, 139 Mt. Pleasant Ave., Rockaway, N. J.

Dear Helen: This is a torture to write, but I'll go crazy if I don't confide in someone. I love my husband, a good, kind and honorable man. We are very close. Yet I'm torn to pieces by the awfulest kind of doubt.

Three years ago our daughter's new husband told me they rushed into marriage because she had convinced him her father's advances to her were dangerous. I wouldn't believe it, pretended I had never been said. I was sure she had made up the story so that the boy would "save" her. He had no intention of getting married until then.

Now, just as I have finally put this out of my mind, our daughter has started coming to the place where I work with such remarks as, "Dad and I went shopping." "Did Dad tell you I spent the afternoon with him?"

Always, it seems she taunts me with how many times she is alone

Lady Bird Gets LBJ Back on Farm

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
RAMEY AIR FORCE BASE, P.R. (AP) - Lady Bird Johnson apparently deserves most of the credit for prevailing on her husband to seek some fun in the sun away from the LBJ Ranch. President Johnson flies back to the White House today after a day and a half in Puerto Rico, his first holiday spent away from his home acres in Texas since he took office.

Mrs. Johnson is known to entice about these climes. She is especially partial to the nearby Virgin Islands and has enjoyed several vacations there.

Daughter Lynda Bird and her husband, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb, honeymooned at Saint Johns, in the Virgin Islands. Thus it appears that Johnson has been under considerable family pressure to find a winter vacation land away from the ranch.

On the other hand, Johnson's Puerto Rican trip, with its emphasis on recreation, may have been prompted by a presidential hunch that it would do the country no harm, at a time of anxiety and frustration over the war in Vietnam, to see him pursuing a relaxed course.

Johnson's visit to this big base of the Strategic Air Command was brief. But old friends say a senator he used to get restless and leave such resort spas as Acapulco, Mexico, much sooner than he originally had planned.

Before flying to Puerto Rico Saturday, he announced he would meet at the White House this afternoon with all parties involved in the 233-day-copper strike.

The chief executive seemed to enjoy himself thoroughly in Puerto Rico. He headed for the air base golf course immediately upon arrival despite leaden skies and a fine mist.

His mood was such that he even invited photographers to record his form—something he had done only once before.

The sun shone brightly Sunday, producing pink and tender skins among the members of the traveling party who left Washington in the wake of a snowstorm. Once again, Johnson played golf. It was the first time the White House ever acknowledged that Johnson had golfed two days in a row.

The traveling White House made no effort to contend that Johnson had come to Puerto Rico to work. He did some of that, of course, as presidents must wherever they go. But the emphasis clearly was on recreation.

His only official function Sunday was to watch the crews of six B52 bombers scramble for their planes in a simulated alert. Carrying four hydrogen bombs each, the huge eight-engine jets were ready to go in four minutes but did not take off.

Earlier in the day the President and Mrs. Johnson, their daughter Luci, and her husband, Pat Nugent, attended mass at the base chapel.

Helen, I hate myself for brooding over suspicious I can't even name. My husband must not ever know I have them. What can I do? - B.W.

Dear B: Do what you should have done three years ago: have a showdown with your daughter. Tell her you want the whole truth, or you'll take those old accusations to her father.

I'd guess the problem isn't an abnormal relationship, but rather a long-smoldering jealousy between daughter and mother. When you get all your cards on the table, you'll get a better deal from life. - H.

Teachers in Frisco Will Return Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
San Francisco teachers return to their classrooms today after a one-day walkout, but the strike by some 20,000 Florida teachers enters its third week with negotiations stalemated.

A third of Pittsburgh's 3,000 teachers who struck last Friday planned large-scale picketing, while classrooms remained vacant for the third straight day in the Wellston, Mo., school district.

Thousands of other Pennsylvania teachers headed for Harrisburg in a one-day "professional holiday" to dramatize their demands for higher salaries.

The San Francisco strike of about 1,100 of the city's 3,400 teachers, in their demand for more money, shut down schools at noon Friday. Most junior and senior high schools were closed, with students at one high school going on a window-smashing rampage.

Sunday night, after 22 hours of talks between strikers and a special city two-man panel, San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto announced that the walkout was over and there would be no reprisals against those who struck.

In Pittsburgh, Albert Fonky, president of the Pittsburgh Federation of Teachers, said "the biggest picket line in the history of Pittsburgh" would be thrown around the Board of Education building.

In Florida, State School Supt. Floyd Christian scrapped a compromise proposal to end the strike when opposition mounted to what he had termed an "honorable solution."

Gov. Claude Kirk has until Thursday to act on a $329 million education bill, which was passed by a special session of the legislature. The governor can sign it, let it become law without his signature or veto it. After the bill was passed, the Florida Education Association said it was inadequate and called the strike.

The FEA, which represents about a third of Florida's 60,000 teachers, said it has obtained newspaper and billboard space across the country and has contracted for national television time to give its side of the issues.

NEA President Brailmont Alonso

of Tampa said in Washington that the national organization will supply $2 million to be used for legal fees and other support of strikers.

The 94 teacher in Wellston, Mo., a suburb of St. Louis, left their classrooms last Thursday protesting the defeat of a new school tax rate which would have raised their salaries. The school district will remain closed at least through Tuesday. A teachers' spokesman said regular classes will resume Wednesday if the Board of Education agrees to resubmit the tax levy proposal.

At least 20,000 of the state's 82,000-member Pennsylvania State Education Association were expected in Harrisburg to call for enactment of two bills before the state legislature, one raising starting salaries and the other increasing state aid to schools.

Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, along with several legislative leaders, was to meet the teachers on the Capitol steps.

The one-day "professional holiday" avoids collision with the state law banning strikes by public employees.

The members of the Pittsburgh Teachers Federation walked out to support their demand for a collective bargaining election.

Theme of Verdi's opera, "Nabucco," is the Biblical story of Nebuchadnezzar, and is set in Jerusalem and Babylon.

76ers Hit Boston Team Hard

By DAVE O'HARA Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers breathed a little easier today en route to a third straight Eastern Division championship in their National Basketball Association rivalry with the Boston Celtics.

The 76ers beat a Boston psyche and a Garden hex while defeating the Celtics 133-127 and taking a big stride toward the title Sunday.

In other NBA action Sunday, Cincinnati topped Seattle 138-128, Detroit drubbed Chicago 134-123, Los Angeles took Baltimore 121-114 and St. Louis edged San Diego 106-104.

New York trounced Detroit 133-107, Los Angeles outlasted Seattle 127-121 and San Francisco beat Baltimore 117-109 Saturday.

In the American Basketball Association Sunday, Pittsburgh whipped Kentucky 110-99, Minnesota defeated New Jersey 123-115, New Orleans downed Houston 103-89, Denver whipped Anaheim 126-114 and Denver bombed Oakland 115-95.

"Barring injuries, we're in fine shape now," Philadelphia Coach Alex Hannum said after the foul-filled duel with the Celtics. "This had to be. We've been rising to the occasion."

With Hal Greer hitting for 43 points, the 76ers built a 21-point lead midway through the fourth period and then checked a desperation rally by the Celtics.

The Celtics were up for the game, but their hopes of handing Philadelphia a fourth straight garden loss and taking a 5-2 season advantage over the 76ers were dashed by the outside shooting and penetrating drives of Greer and Wally Jones.

With both teams aiming for a showdown in the Eastern playoff finals, the 76ers proved they can win in Boston, where they managed just four victories in 20 previous regular season visits.

Referees Norm Drucker and Don Murphy called 70 fouls, including three technicals, in the rugged game before a national television audience and a Garden crowd of 14,692, the largest pro basketball turnout in Boston history. The Garden recently added seats, doing away with the familiar 13,909 capacity.

Cincinnati's victory kept the fourth-place Royals 1½ games ahead of Detroit, who replaced Baltimore in fifth place in the Eastern Division.

Connie Dierking's 41 points, a pro-career high, sparked the Royals' victory. Cincinnati led 66-65 at halftime, but Dierking and Adrian Smith spurred them into a 77-70 lead early in the third period and Seattle never caught up. Smith finished with 31 points. Rod Thorn lead Seattle with 22.

Detroit rolled to its victory behind the double-figure scoring of six players. Dave Bing led the parade with 34 points, followed by Eddie Miles, 27, Len Chappell, 22, McCoy McLemore paced Chicago with 23.

Los Angeles overcame a nine-point deficit in the third quarter and moved to their seventh straight victory and 22nd in the last 27 games behind the shooting of Elgin Baylor and Archie Clark.

Baylor poured in 33 points and Clark 25. Earl Monroe scored 24 for Baltimore.

A foul shot and basket by Bill Bridges broke a 102-102 tie and clinched the victory for Western Division-leading St. Louis. Don Ohl scored 27 points for St. Louis and Henry Finkel got 24 for San Diego.

Sets a New World Record

INZELL, Germany (AP) — Sten Kaiser set a world record of one minute, 31 second in the women's 1,000-meter race Sunday at an international speed skating meet. She broke the old record held by Russia's Lydia Skoblikova by eight-tenths of a second.

West German Is Winner

TOMAKOMAI, Japan (AP) — Olympic gold medalist Erhard Keller of West Germany won the 500-meter race in 40.2 seconds and the 1,500 meters in 2:15.4 Monday at a speed skating meet.

Porks Help TCU Win the SWC Title

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer

There'll be big doings in Ames, Iowa, tonight as the college basketball season starts its last week of the regular season.

Iowa State, with a chance for its first Big Eight Conference title in 23 years, entertains first-place Kansas State, Iowa State is tied for second with Kansas, one game behind, but followers of the Cyclones are confident they will tie for the lead tonight, then win the title outright by beating Kansas on Saturday.

K-State defeated Colorado 67-56 Saturday while Iowa State hasn't played since its 93-92 overtime road victory over Nebraska last Friday.

The Iowa Hawkeyes, close to their first Big Ten Conference championship in 12 years, play at Minnesota and the unbeaten, top-ranked Houston Cougars are at West Texas in an effort to complete a 28-0 regular season.

Ohio State, one game back of Iowa, plays at Illinois and Kansas is at Oklahoma in other important games tonight.

The results of the Big Eight and Big Ten scrambles will fill two of the remaining six spots in the NCAA postseason tourney for the national championship which opens on Saturday with seven first-round games.

Two other NCAA berths will be decided Tuesday night. Columbia and Princeton play off for the Ivy League crown on St. John's neutral court in New York. Murray and East Tennessee meet in a similar playoff for the Ohio Valley Conference crown on Eastern Kentucky's neutral court in Richmond, Ky.

Princeton gained its tie with Columbia by ending the Lions' 16-game winning streak Saturday night 68-57. East Tennessee tied Murray by defeating Tennessee Tech 85-82.

The Atlantic Coast Conference championship tourney, opening at Charlotte with four games Thursday, and the winner of the West Coast Athletic Conference in which Santa Clara leads Los Angeles Loyola by one game, will determine the last two NCAA berths.

UCLA, the defending national champ, Davidson, LaSalle, Texas Christian and Weber State qualified for the NCAA over the weekend.

They joined Houston, St. Bonaventure, St. John's, Florida State, Marquette, Chicago Loyola, New Mexico State, Boston College, Louisville, Bowling Green, Kentucky and New Mexico in the 23-team field.

UCLA qualified by routing California 115-71 for the Pacific-8 title. Davidson beat West Virginia 87-70 in the final of the Southern Conference championship tourney, and LaSalle romped over Temple 87-69 in the final of the Middle Atlantic Conference playoffs.

TCU took the Southwest Conference by beating Baylor 72-65, helped by Arkansas' 74-73 upset over Texas, and Weber State won the Big Sky Conference crown by defeating Montana State 85-80.

Dayton, beaten by UCLA in the final of last year's NCAA tourney, was picked Sunday for the National Invitation Tournament along with Marshall, which reached the semifinals of the NIT last year.

Dayton, 17-9 with a 10-game winning streak, and Marshall, 17-7, join Oklahoma City, Army, Fordham, Notre Dame, Duquesne, Long Island and St. Peter's in the 16-team NIT field.

The tourney opens March 14 at the new Madison Square Garden in New York and ends March 23, the same day as the NCAA.

In what may be a preview of the final in the ACC tourney came Saturday when Duke, 10th-ranked in The Associated Press poll, beat third-ranked North Carolina 87-86 in three overtimes. In their first-round games Thursday Duke meets Clemson and North Carolina is pitted against Wake Forest.

SOLUNAR TABLES

By Richard Alden Knight

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from Richard Alden Knight's SOLUNAR TABLES. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times. If you wish to find the best spot that each day has to offer.

The Major Periods are shown in boldface type. These begin at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The Minor Periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

Use Central Standard Time.

Turrell Is Winner in B Tourney

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Turrell's Rockets frittered away three opportunities in the final 31 seconds here Saturday night and lost their first game in 38 — a 48-46 decision to Pyatt in the finals of the Class B State Tournament.

Turrell was trailing 47-46 when Lonnie White went to the free throw line and missed two shots with 31 seconds left.

Joe Melton's free throw made it 48-46 with 15 seconds left. Jimmy Richardson could have clinched the victory but he missed two free throws six seconds later.

Turrell lost the ball out of bounds but got it back on a Pyatt violation. Nelson Catalina fired a 35-footer at the buzzer but the ball hit the front of the rim and bounced off.

Joel Tabor led Pyatt with 17 points. Benton Moore had 17 for Turrell.

Minnesota, Denver Fight Losing Bids

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Denver and Minnesota, each with four game winning streaks, appear to be fighting losing battles in a bid to overcome the American Basketball Association leaders.

The Rockets exploded in the second half to gain a 115-95 victory over Oakland while Minnesota held off a New Jersey bid for a 123-115 decision in Sunday's action.

Denver remained 3½ games behind Western Division leader New Orleans, which knocked off Houston 103-89. In the East, Minnesota remained three games off the pace of the Pittsburgh Pipers, who rolled to their 10th straight victory, 110-99 over Kentucky. In the other game, Dallas tripped Anaheim 126-114.

In Saturday's contests, New Jersey turned back Kentucky 117-100 and Indiana nipped Anaheim 124-119.

Sunday's National Basketball Association scores were: Detroit 134, Chicago 123; Los Angeles 121, Baltimore 114; St. Louis 106, San Diego 104; Cincinnati 138, Seattle 128; and Philadelphia 133, Boston 127.

Denver poured in 64 points in the second half after leading by only 51-48 at intermission.

Willie Murrell had 28 points for the Rockets and Ron Franz topped Oakland with 23.

Reserve Dick Clark tossed in 19 points to lead the Muskies over New Jersey. Minnesota led all the way but the Americans narrowed the gap to 102-99 in the last period. Clark then dropped in a basket and added two more with 2:12 to play to send the Muskies comfortably ahead at 120-108.

Les Hunter had 21 points for the winners while Lavern Tart collected 30 for New Jersey.

New Orleans trailed 46-40 at halftime after shooting a horrendous 4-for-23 in the second quarter but settled down in the last 24 minutes. A 15-point streak in the last four minutes, putting the Bucs ahead 103-85, sewed it up.

Frazier and Griffith Favorites

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Frazier, Emile Griffith and the Madison Square Garden box office remained the favorites today in a championship boxing doubleheader that could set financial records.

A crowd of 16,000 was expected to see Frazier, an Olympic champion four years ago, battle Buster Mathis for a share of the heavyweight championship after Griffith puts his middleweight crown on the line against Italy's Nino Benvenuti.

Frazier was a 2-1 favorite over Mathis and Griffith ruled as an 8-5 choice over Benvenuti.

The Garden has guaranteed the four fighters $505,000 and with tickets scaled from $10 to $100, a sellout would gross about $750,000.

The gross receipts record for an indoor fight is $511,000 for the third Floyd Patterson-Ingram Johansson heavyweight bout in Miami Beach's Convention Hall March 13, 1961.

Frazier and Mathis, oldtime foes, battle for the New York and Massachusetts versions of the heavyweight crown. They've fought twice before, both times in amateur bouts, with Mathis winning both.

Mathis broke his hand in the second bout and Frazier replaced him in the 1964 Olympics. The Philadelphia slugger went on to win the Olympic heavyweight crown.

Both Mathis and Frazier are undefeated as pros. Frazier has 17 knockouts and 19 straight victories while Mathis, the big boy from Grand Rapids, Mich., is 23-0 with 17 knockouts.

Frazier is favored because he has fought tougher opponents including George Chuvalo of Canada, Eddie Machen, Doug Jones and Billy Daniels.

"I'm going to take out that big boy," he says of Mathis, "maybe in five or six."

Mathis, once a blubbery 320 pounds but now a comparatively svelte 242, sounded just as confident. "He makes a lot of mistakes," Mathis said. "I'm going to take advantage of them, I'm ready to go 15 but maybe I won't have to. He's wide open."

Negro Leader Fired on in Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Police said someone in a passing car fired a shotgun blast toward the home of Negro leader Charles Evers Sunday night—and guards outside the house fired back.

The house has been under night guard by armed volunteers since Evers entered the race for a vacated congressional seat. His brother, civil rights leader Medgar Evers, was killed by a sniper in 1963.

H. B. Harrell, a police major, said a 16-year-old boy was arrested about an hour after the 11 p.m. shooting and held for questioning. A shotgun was confiscated.

Evers said the guards were "just fellows who see after me — volunteers. I've gotten quite a few threats since Tuesday."

In the primary election Tuesday, Evers led the field in the race for the 12-county 3rd Congressional District seat vacated when John B. Williams resigned to take over as governor. That put Evers into the runoff campaign, to be decided March 12.

His opponent is Charles Griffin, of Utica, who was on Williams' congressional staff. Griffin was the top man among the six whites in the race, which eliminated all but the two top candidates.

Joe Rooker, a native of Hope, Ark., has completed the extensive Operations Management Training Course conducted by Minnie Pearl's Chicken System, Inc., in Nashville, Tenn.

Rooker, who now lives in Little Rock, will take his post as manager of the Minnie Pearl's Chicken outlet in North Little Rock. He will be working for Mountaire Poultry Co., Inc., a North Little Rock based firm which holds franchises for 20 MPC outlets in the state of Arkansas and some counties in Louisiana and Texas.

The Operations Management Diploma was presented to Rooker by John Jay Hooker, Jr., president and board chairman of Minnie Pearl's Chicken System, Inc. Rooker attended high school in Hope, Ark., and studied Business Administration at Arkansas A. & M. He served 16 months of his Navy duty in the Pacific. He moved to Austin, Texas where he was associated as partner and manager of a restaurant.

Rooker, an avid sports fan, lives at 1419 Cantrell Road, Little Rock.

First Thanksgiving
Virginians say the first Thanksgiving Day in America was observed at the historic James River plantation of Berkeley. The land was granted in 1619 by King James I and it was here a year later that Thanksgiving was celebrated before the Pilgrims landed in New England.

D. D. HARRISON

Darrell Dean Harrison, U.S. Air Force, was recently promoted to sergeant at Alconbury, England. He is with the 10th Reconnaissance Wing. Before going to England he was stationed at Chanute AFB, Ill., where he graduated with honors from the Aerospace Ground Equipment Repairman course. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Howard Harrison of Badcow.

Eight Persons Lose Lives on Highways

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Eight persons lost their lives on the Arkansas highways in seven separate accidents during the weekend.

State Police identified the victims as Thomas B. Brown, 30, of Camden; Pleas Sams, 57, of Stephens; James Dale Golden, 5, of Jonesboro; Fannie Jefferson, 24, of Childerston (Ouachita County); Jimmie Pearce, 25, of Houston, Tex.; Roy Blackwell, 25, of DeValls Bluff; Elijah Bradley, 61, of Cotton Plant, and Nathan Edgar Vernon, 64, of Siloam Springs.

Brown and Sams were killed Sunday afternoon in a two-car accident about eight miles south of Camden on Arkansas 79. Authorities said Brown was the driver of a vehicle which attempted to pass and struck a vehicle driven by Gerald Atkins, 20, of Pine Bluff headon. Sams was a passenger in the Brown vehicle.

The Golden child, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Byrd, of Jonesboro, was struck and killed Sunday while attempting to cross U.S. 63 about four miles south of Jonesboro. Authorities identified the driver of the car which struck the youth as Mrs. Grace Tolson, 76, of Cascade, Mo.

Pearce was killed and Richard Pearce, 28, of Houston was injured Saturday night when their car ran off Arkansas 9 and overturned about five miles south of Malvern.

Blackwell was killed Saturday when his vehicle collided with a vehicle driven by Bill J. Back, 8, of Kingman, Kan., about one mile northeast of DeValls Bluff on U.S. 70.

Bradley was struck and killed Saturday while crossing Arkansas 38 about one mile west of Cotton Plant. The driver of the car was identified as Ray Twardeski of Augusta.

Vernon's car skidded two vehicles Saturday on Arkansas 68, about 8 1/2 miles east of Siloam Springs. He died Saturday night at a Siloam Springs hospital.

Miss Jefferson was a passenger in a northbound vehicle driven by Lucille Jefferson, 22, also of Childerston, which collided with another vehicle about two miles south of Thornton on Arkansas 79.

Votes May Control Nation, But Not Value of Money

One of the illusions dearest to American politics is that because Government is elected by the people therefore the people by the effortless use of their vote can control the dollar, despite the fact it is supposed to be a symbol of work performed.

The political tides in our history have alternated between "hard money" and "easy money." When your editor was a small boy and just becoming aware of the printed page and current events, William Jennings Bryan was shuffling off the national stage at the end of his campaign for free silver coinage, an "easy money" campaign that was defeated by the "100-cent dollar" platform of McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt. A generation later, however, "easy money" did come in with Franklin D. Roosevelt—and it would seem to this generation that the people really do control fiscal policy.

But it is only an illusion, for irresponsible policy eventually devalues or even destroys a currency based solely on the printing press—and those people who thought they "controlled" the dollar wake up to find its value has flown away and left them masters of nothing. It is an old story to students of history and economics: France, Italy, Great Britain, Germany, all in their time tried printing-press money—only to see prices rise until finally their currency became worthless.

What history shows is that the people may elect a nation's Government but neither the people nor the Government can keep printing-press money from eventually becoming mere paper. Currency is not of any one nation's making. Eventually it is confronted by the judgment of other nations which work to earn a dollar—and eventually you are counted out of the international exchange game if your country hasn't been living right.

As an old economics scholar your editor thought this complicated question was never better explained than in one paragraph of a story about gold written by Lee Silberman in this morning's Wall Street Journal, world-wide authority on trade.

Mr. Silberman simply reported that the United States Government is in a monumental jam. By treaty all the non-Communist nations tie their currency to the American dollar, the value of which is fixed at 1-35th of an ounce of gold. Our Treasury's long-time policy is to redeem with gold at $35 an ounce all dollars presented to it by foreign central banks.

But the United States is running out of gold. We had 22.7 billions in gold as late as 1957—now it's down to less than 12 billion.

Mark up the price of gold? That would mean devaluing the dollar, shaking the value of every currency in the non-Communist world—and risking world monetary chaos and paralysis of foreign trade.

Does any nation fully control its destiny? At least not its financial destiny. After a generation of running a welfare state on "easy money" our people are finally confronted by foreign creditors who in effect say: "You can trade at home any way you like—but we're strangers...we demand payment in dollars that will buy something."

Temperatures Slated to Be Warmer

Associated Press

Clear skies and warmer temperatures are expected to remain in Arkansas through Tuesday as a large high pressure system of cold dry air covers the Mid-South.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted a warming trend in the daytime and cold nights with temperatures at or below freezing.

Low temperatures reported around the state this morning ranged from 10 degrees at Fayetteville to 27 at Texarkana. Highs Sunday ranged from 42 at Harrison to 49 at Fort Smith.

$15 Billion Asked for Health Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed a $15.6 billion "Health in America" program to Congress today that would more than double federal outlays for birth control programs, boost efforts to slash infant deaths and provide new incentives for the training of more doctors.

In a special message, Johnson outlined "five major new goals" — to curb infant mortality, provide more health personnel, combat soaring medical costs, lower the accidental death rate, and seek volunteer efforts by doctors, hospitals and others to provide better health for all Americans.

The $15.6 billion price tag for the fiscal year beginning July 1 would boost the current annual outlay $8 billion.

Johnson asked Congress to increase funds for birth control activities to $61 million from $25 million. He said this would make family planning information and birth control devices or drugs available to an additional 3 million women "if they so desire."

He also announced plans to create a center for population studies and human reproduction, primarily to direct family planning research, and asked for an initial appropriation of $12 million to support it.

The chief executive said infant mortality is "inexcusably high" although it has dropped from 25.2 deaths per 1,000 children under the age of one in 1963, to 22.1 last year.

Noting that the United States ranks only 15th in infant mortality, Johnson said the nation "should lead the world in saving its young."

He asked Congress to provide an additional $58 million next year for maternal and child health care programs. He said the goal should be to eliminate all problems in this area by 1973.

He also asked for another $215 million or a total of $1.4 billion, for child health services.

Biggest Leap Year Problem Is There Are More Girls Than Men

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The biggest Leap Year problem the girls face isn't the reluctance of men to marry but the fact there simply aren't enough to go around. For every 100 marriageable young women, the Institute of Life Insurance estimates, there are only 91 marriageable young men.

Isn't this romantic? In Oklahoma City, the telephone company installed a "kissing lane" in front of its building. It's a parking space where employees can bid fond farewells to their spouses without tying up morning traffic.

Modern college graduates find it a bit difficult to settle down into a business routine. A survey found that two out of three change jobs within five years after leaving the campus.

How safe is your automobile? A nationwide safety check disclosed that 14 per cent of cars and trucks inspected had defective equipment that could lead to accidents. The most common defects involved rear lights, headlights, stop lights, turn signals, brakes and tires.

Diabetes may be a penalty you face if you overeat regularly. A Swiss scientist found that when the formerly meager diet of tribes in India were replaced with abundant food the number of diabetes cases rose markedly.

Congress Pressed for Billions to Prevent More Riots in Nation

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders are joining big-city mayors in pressuring a cost-wary Congress to take prompt, multibillion-dollar steps toward solving the nation's racial crisis.

Four commission members and a half-dozen mayors appeared on nationwide radio-television broadcasts Sunday and urged what one mayor termed "an infusion of billions of dollars to correct" conditions that spawned last summer's riots.

The panel's landmark report became involved as well in the campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota cited it in a New Hampshire speech as he criticized the Johnson administration's priorities.

The commission made public during the weekend its 250,000-word analysis of last year's urban violence. Like the 12,000-word summary released two days earlier, the mammoth document was almost silent on how to meet the costs of the proposed programs, suggesting only that higher taxes may be necessary.

Key members of Congress, already caught in the fiscal crunch caused by the Vietnam war, are openly dubious about financing the commission's sweeping employment, education, housing and welfare programs.

Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations Committee which must approve all money measures, said the panel's proposals could cost hundreds of billions of dollars. This, Mahon declared, makes them "wholly unrealistic."

Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, vice chairman of the 11-member commission, acknowledged the recommendations "will be costly" to implement but said "the country has got to make up its mind, and the Congress must make up its mind, that the cost figure is relatively unimportant in terms of what we have to do in order to save this country from the possibility of chaos."

"Congress must lead and the country must push Congress," Lindsay said. "Both must happen and unless it happens we're in for trouble."

In a move to generate this public push, commission members plan scores of appearances across the nation in the months ahead.

After the panel approved the report, Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., told newsmen he and other members have committed themselves to travel around the country "to give wide dissemination of our views and to do all we can for the implementation of the recommendations."

The list of the commission's recommendations were disclosed in the summary report released Thursday night. The full report also included proposals for:

— Another hike in the federal minimum wage, which climbed to $1.80 an hour only last month.

— Broadening the 7 per cent investment credit to give industry a tax incentive to locate new plants in poverty areas and train unemployed slum residents.

— Starting a system of government income supplements for any person—employed or jobless—who exists on substandard income. The commission said this "would involve substantially greater federal expenditures than anything now contemplated in this country."

But unless steps are taken, the report warned there will be "a seriously greater probability of major disorders, worse, possibly, than those already experienced."

Held in the shooting is Theodosius Primer who is in Hempstead County jail pending charges which will be filed sometime today.

Investigating officers said the shooting followed an argument between the two. Both men had guns. Primer a sawed-off shotgun struck Williams in the mouth.

Investigating officers were Sheriff Jimmie Griffin, State Police Investigator Travis Ward and Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Norman Smith.

It was Kim Hubbard who served, "No one can feel as helpless as the owner of a sick goldfish."

Wants $277 Million for Six Nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional approval of $277 million aid for six countries on the rim of the Vietnam war was asked today by the Agency for International Development.

John C. Bullitt, assistant AID administrator for East Asia, said $114 million would go to Thailand, Laos and Korea to help their defense efforts.

He said $70.9 million would help strengthen the South Korean national police in the face of increasing North Korean terrorism. South Korean police would get technical advice, training and equipment.

Bullitt said the authorization also would permit increased aid to Indonesia which he called "the most important developing country in Southeast Asia in size, resources and strategic location."

Bullitt spoke in testimony prepared for the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

He said the boost of $56 million over current AID allocations would assist counter-insurgency in Thailand and set aside $18.3 million for regional economic development projects in Southeast Asia.

Departing from previous AID policy, Bullitt asked specific amounts for each nation—Burma, $200,000; Indonesia, $61 million; Korea, $70.9 million; Laos, $51.8 million; Philippines $12 million; Thailand $62.8 million and regional development $18.3 million.

Bullitt indicated emphasis would be on increasing agricultural output.

The jurisdiction of the House Foreign Affairs Committee. The delay in publishing the report was caused by a jurisdictional dispute between the two committees.

Rep. Ogden R. Reid of New York, ranking Republican on the operations panel headed by Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., said the United States must pressure the Saigon government to institute sweeping social and economic reforms.

"Unless this is recognized at the highest levels in Washington and Saigon," said Reid, "a viable South Vietnamese government, enjoying support from the countryside, will become an extremely remote possibility, and our efforts and sacrifices in that country increasingly futile."

The report said most South Vietnamese farmers have an enduring interest in owning land, but instead are forced to give over as much as 50 per cent of their crop in rents.

That percentage of the crop is taken in rent despite a law setting rent ceilings at 25 per cent, said the report.

The dissenting members said land reform is not the burning issue pictured by the report.

Rep. Porter W. Hardy Jr., D-Va., also objected to the report and challenged the panel's authority to issue it. He argued such policy matters are within

The dissenting members said land reform is not the burning issue pictured by the report.

Rep. Porter W. Hardy Jr., D-Va., also objected to the report and challenged the panel's authority to issue it. He argued such policy matters are within the jurisdiction of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

The delay in publishing the report was caused by a jurisdictional dispute between the two committees.

Rep. Ogden R. Reid of New York, ranking Republican on the operations panel headed by Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., said the United States must pressure the Saigon government to institute sweeping social and economic reforms.

"Unless this is recognized at the highest levels in Washington and Saigon," said Reid, "a viable South Vietnamese government, enjoying support from the countryside, will become an extremely remote possibility, and our efforts and sacrifices in that country increasingly futile."

Vietnamese Thwart U.S. Search for Cong on Embassy Payroll

By BARRY KRAMER

SAIGON (AP) — American security officials trying to learn if there are still Viet Cong on the U.S. Embassy payroll are being thwarted by the South Vietnamese police, informed sources said today.

The sources said the National Police had refused to let the Americans talk at length with two of the Viet Cong who participated in the attack on the Embassy last Jan. 31 and with eight other Viet Cong arrested in Saigon who might have had some connection with the attack.

The fact that any of the squad that attacked the embassy survived has been a closely guarded secret for more than a month. After the attack, it was announced officially that all were killed.

U.S. security officials did talk briefly with Nguyen Van Sau, the leader of the Viet Cong squad which invaded the embassy compound, and that talk led police to a house where the Viet Cong had assembled for the attack.

At the house, police arrested a woman who said 15 armed Viet Cong had stayed there the night before the attack. Viet Cong documents found in the garage of the house identified the place as the hiding place of the embassy attack squad.

The sources said the Viet Cong apparently were driven to the house by Nguyen Van De, a U.S. Embassy chauffeur. He was killed during the battle at the embassy.

Allied Bases Target of Enemy Shells

By GEORGE ESPER
Associate Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces sent hundreds of rockets and mortar shells slamming into allied air bases, command posts and other installations today and seized a hospital run by an American woman doctor. The shelling was the heaviest since more than two weeks.

U.S. officers at Kontum said Viet Cong troops blew up the operating and X-ray rooms of the hospital and fired "indiscriminately" into some of the wards. One Montagnard tribesman patient was killed and four wounded.

The U.S. officers said the doctor, Patricia Smith of Seattle, Wash., was safe in a secure area of Kontum city. One Gorman nurse, however, was said to have been abducted. The hospital is on the outskirts of Kontum, a central highland city 275 miles north of Saigon.

The U.S. Command reported new action along the eastern end of the demilitarized zone dividing the two Vietnams. It said U.S. Marines and air cavalrymen killed nearly 300 Communist troops in a series of battles Sunday east of the Marine command base at Khe Sanh. The enemy kept up its daily shelling of Khe Sanh.

But just nine miles north of Saigon, 200 Communist ambushers killed 48 American soldiers and wounded another 28, most of them in the first eight minutes of a machine-gun attack Saturday. The U.S. Command disclosed the attack Sunday.

U.S. pilots flew 68 missions against North Vietnam Sunday, many of them radar guided because of the overcasts of the continuing northeast monsoons. The major strike was an attack by Navy A6 Intruders from the carrier Enterprise on an 11-acre cargo transfer and storage complex on the Red River 1.8 miles southeast of the center of Hanoi.

It was the second attack on that target in three days.

The major targets of the Communist shelling included six allied air bases, a U.S. Navy base, the base camps of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division and the 45th Infantry Division, the country's biggest oil tank farm just outside Saigon, a big Marine supply base and two Green Beret Special Forces camps.

In the shelling of the district town of Duc Duc just below Da Nang, Viet Cong mortars laid 150 houses burned to the ground, 20 civilians dead and another 80 wounded, South Vietnamese headquarters said.

The attacks were the heaviest series of coordinated shelling since Feb. 19 when Communist forces hit with rockets and mortar shells in Saigon and 46 other cities and allied installations in their second wave attacks. The second wave followed the Communist "biggest offensive of the war" launched against 35 major South Vietnamese cities during the lunar new year Jan. 31.

The latest recommendations in soybean production will be discussed on Thursday, March 7, at the County Courthouse said County Extension Agent Calvin Caldwell. The meeting will be held in the Extension Conference Room on the first floor and will begin at 1:15 p.m., he said.

Some of the best qualified men in Arkansas to speak on soybean production will be here to lead the discussion. The program is as follows:

"Soybean Culture and Weed Control," Ruel Nester, Extension Agronomist; "Soybean Insects and Their Control," Paul Boyer, Survey Entomologist, University of Arkansas; "Soybean Diseases," M. C. McDaniel, Extension Plant Pathologist; and "Use of Agricultural Chemicals," Dr. Harold Hurst, Extension Agricultural Chemicals Specialist.

All soybean producers are invited and urged to attend. Mr. Caldwell said.

Q—Is it true that the hippopotamus sweats blood?

A—There is no foundation for this belief. During warm weather, the hippo's skin does secrete a reddish, oily liquid to make the skin more resistant to water. But this secretion is not blood, although it resembles blood in general appearance.

Q—Does dew fall from the sky?

A—Dew forms; it does not fall from clouds. It is water condensed onto objects near the ground.

Senate Gets Blamed for Rights Action

By JOHN BECKLER

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The report of the Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders with its grim picture of a racially divided nation throws a harsh spotlight on the Senate maneuvering over civil rights legislation.

In view of the massive effort urged by the commission to stave off threatened disaster, the Senate lagging over what percentage of houses in white suburbia should be opened to Negroes takes on a note of un-reality.

Indeed, the conditions described in the report provide a sad commentary on the whole body of civil rights legislation enacted over the past few years.

Men of good will worked hard and courageously to pass those laws and thought they were ushering in a new era in U.S. race relations.

But the commission calls past efforts largely inadequate and warns that if now and effective steps are not taken at once riots worse than any so far may erupt.

The effectiveness of laws, of course, depends on the way they are enforced. The Negro's right to vote has been enormously strengthened in the South by strong enforcement of the law.

But in other areas of discrimination, particularly where the law applies nationally and not just in the South, enforcement has been spotty. In probably no field is the record worse than in employment.

On the same day the summary of the commission's report was released, Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y., released a report of his own on job discrimination against Negroes.

He pointed out that the right to employment on an equal basis is protected by specific federal and state laws and commissions and by a string of presidential orders. Yet Negro unemployment in the cities is three or four times the rate for whites, and those who find work are concentrated in the lowest-paid jobs.

That discrimination—not lack of training—is the reason, he said, is proved by a study showing that 8 of 10 Negroes with an eighth-grade education or less are in unskilled jobs, as against

3 of 10 whites.

Ryan said the government has made almost no use of a weapon that could end discrimination in one-third of all the jobs in the nation. He referred to an executive order issued by President

Johnson in September 1965, that prohibits companies holding government contracts from discriminating.

Declaring that no contract has ever been canceled under the order, Ryan said its history "is an inexcusable story of bureaucratic betrayal."

Ryan said the Defense Department has refused to cancel contracts despite documented charges by other government agencies that certain companies discriminate in hiring.

Labor unions are also covered by the order, he said, yet discrimination—particularly in the building trades unions—remains a formidable barrier to Negro employment.

In Newark, scene of one of last summer's bloodiest riots, he said, work will soon begin on a federally-aided construction project.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "A Hatful of Rain," a play written more than 10 years ago, still packed a powerful punch in its

Sunday night adaptation on ABC. The two-hour drama was primarily an exposure of the horrors of narcotic addiction, complete with graphic demonstrations of withdrawal symptoms.

The overriding theme diminished the impact and importance of the human relationships among all the disturbed, unhappy people concerned.

Michael Parks and Peter

Falk, as brothers, had the two meaty parts. Parks, as Johnny, was the addict, originally hooked as a hospital patient, who needed $40 a day to support his habit. Falk, as his older brother, Polo, protected him, gave him money and helped conceal his condition from his pregnant wife.

Sandy Dennis had the somewhat thankless part of the bewildered, young wife who rather incomprehensibly did not suspect anything was wrong with her husband. But because of her husband's inattention, she was powerfully attracted to the older brother. Then, if this were not complicated enough, there was Herschel Bernardi playing the boorish, selfish father of the two men.

There were many emotion-charged scenes, particularly between Falk and Bernardi, but the most chilling moments belonged to Parks as he writhed, sweated and shook in the agony of withdrawal.

At times the story moved into soap opera territory—the wife on the verge of a miscarriage, a long reluctant scene between the older brother and the girl when he spoke of his love for her.

There was no real end of the play—the climax came when the man admitted to being a junkie. There was some vague suggestion that he would try, with medical help, to shake the habit, but that was all.

Earlier Sunday afternoon

NBC's "Experiment in Television," had a romantic and poignant vignette, "Passport to Prague." The film, shot mostly in Czechoslovakia, told of an interlude in the life of a young

American woman, happily married, who was in Prague briefly on business. Although she spoke no Czech, she became involved with a man there who spoke almost no English. Then, her business over, she returned to her husband.

The story was told without any translation in two languages. Altogether it was unusual, and was done with delicacy and subtlety.

Tanker Poses Threat to San Juan

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer
SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — An oil slick four miles long and a mile wide threatened to drive thousands of vacationing sun worshipers from Puerto Rico's luxury beaches today after a Liberian tanker broke up at the mouth of San Juan harbor.

Some of the Ocean Eagle's 6 million gallons of oil washed up on the white sand in front of the Caribe Hilton Hotel Sunday night, and the slick drifted toward the other luxury hotels along the beach in the plush Condado area.

It was the second such mishap to a Liberian-flag tanker within a year. Last March 18, the 61,263-ton American-owned Torrey Canyon, five times as big as the Ocean Eagle, broke up on a reef off Britain's southwest coast and spilled millions of gallons of oil onto the beaches of southern England and France. The British government is suing the owners for $8,156,000 to pay for the cleaning operation.

The U.S. Coast Guard sprayed emulsifying chemicals on oil from the Ocean Eagle drifting into San Juan harbor and reported "encouraging results." U.S. Navy tugs brought more chemicals for the oil threatening the tourist beaches three miles away, but officials said trying to cover the entire slick would be a tremendous task.

"I don't think anybody will be swimming," said Carlos Santiago, assistant manager of the Caribe Hilton.

Oil still poured from the two halves of the 12,065-ton tanker and the front half was blocking the harbor entrance. Tugs attempted to pull it out to sea where it could be sunk without endangering traffic but had to give up because "apparently it is hard aground," a spokesman said.

First Mate Pangelotis Michaelopoulos said the ship dropped anchor at the harbor entrance about 7 a.m. Sunday to take aboard a harbor pilot, suddenly it snapped in two just behind the main superstructure.

"I heard a loud noise," he said. "Then I saw oil pouring from the sides of the ship into the water. A few minutes later we gave the order to abandon ship."

The 35-man Greek crew was taken off without injury in about 20 minutes.

The ship, owned by Transoceanic Tankers Corp. and Northern Transatlantic Carriers Corp., was carrying oil from Venezuela to the Caribbean oil refinery in San Juan.

Bruce Bennett Considering Running Again

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett, 50, of El Dorado, an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1960, is considering another race for the job this summer.

"Right now, I would say my chances are excellent," he said Saturday. "I expect to keep contacting my friends over the state during March and will make up my mind about the last of the month."

Bennett, defeated in 1966 by Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell, ran third in a field of five Democratic gubernatorial candidates in 1960.

He had served as attorney general from 1956-60 and was re-elected in 1962 and 1964.

Bennett currently is practicing law both here and at Little Rock.

Panama May Impeach President

By LUIS NOLI

PANAMA (AP) — President Marco A. Robles and his Cabinet were holed up in National Guard headquarters today as the National Assembly prepared to consider a petition asking his impeachment on charges of illegal political activity.

The National Union of Opposition, a group of five parties, claimed it had enough votes to suspend Robles from office and order an impeachment trial by the assembly. An opposition leader, First Vice President Max Delvalle, then would become chief executive.

Robles and his Cabinet moved Sunday into the headquarters of the guard, Panama's army. The pro government television station said he had "assumed command" of the guard in order to face up to "subversion." The opposition radio said the guard continued under "absolute control" of Brig. Gen. Bolivar Valarino.

There were no outward signs of tension in the capital.

The rival candidates in the presidential election May 12 broadcast appeals to their followers to rally today in the legislative plaza, opposite the National Assembly building.

The candidates are engineer David Samudio, who has Robles' support, and Dr. Arnulfo Arias of the opposition, who twice has been elected president of Panama and twice deposed. The winner should take office in October.

Reports circulated that representatives of the administration and the opposition met at guard headquarters to discuss a compromise, including cancellation of today's rallies, but there was no word on the outcome.

The charges against Robles are based on his support of Samudio. The Christian Democrat party, which has no seats in the assembly, filed a complaint that Robles violated constitutional provisions banning the president from participating in a political campaign.

It also accused him of firing government employees opposing Samudio and permitting the use of state resources for political purposes.

When he came out for Samudio, Robles lost the support of four of the eight parties that carried him to power in 1964. The opposition union said it now has 29 deputies in the 42-seat assembly who will vote to suspend Robles. A vote of two-thirds of the deputies—28—is needed. Opposition sources said the government was pressing at least three deputies to desert the opposition.

Arias said in his broadcast speech that free elections would be impossible under Robles. Samudio replied that the opposition maneuver is a "parliamentary coup d'etat." He said the opposition deputies are "partial judges" who will vote in compliance with instructions issued by their parties.

British Are Investigating Explosions

LONDON (AP) — Police are investigating explosions in London, the Netherlands and Italy which damaged two American installations, two Spanish embassies, a Greek embassy and a Portuguese embassy over the weekend.

Nine minor injuries were reported, to police and firemen at the Spanish Embassy in the Hague, the Dutch capital.

A blast Sunday shattered four windows and wrecked a door at a U.S. officers' club in London. An Army spokesman said most of the 125 people in the building, mainly Army officers and their families, slept through it.

Police searched for a car seen in the neighborhood just before the explosion. Police believed left-wing extremists were involved.

A mile away an explosive device shattered a garden door at the Spanish Embassy and caused minor damage to the West German Embassy next door.

The U.S. consulate in Turin, Italy, was rocked by an explosion Saturday night which shattered windows and caused other damage. U.S. Consul-General Givon Parsons also theorized that leftist extremists were responsible.

Guards at the U.S. Embassy in Rome and other American government buildings in Italy were put on special alert.

The Hague had three explosions Sunday. They shattered windows in the Greek and Spanish Embassies and damaged an outer wall of the Portuguese Embassy.

Erik Zwitsler, 19, a member of a pro-Peking youth group, said Dutch anarchists were responsible for the explosions. Speaking to newsmen at police headquarters, where he said he had been brought for questioning, Zwitsler said his group was not involved.

President to Try to End Copper Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson bids today to generate around-the-clock negotiations aimed at ending a 7½-month-old copper strike he has said could hurt the U.S. defense effort.

Johnson summoned leaders of the 28 unions and four major

Baby Found in Shopping Bag

SEATTLE (AP) — Mrs. James G. Kirk was curious when she saw a shopping bag near her front door upon returning home from church Sunday. "When I saw it move," she said, "I called my husband." Inside they found a baby boy. The baby was reported doing well at King County Hospital Sunday night.

Says Crew to Ask LBJ to Admit Spying

TOKYO (AP) — North Korea said today the crew of the USS Pueblo had signed an open letter calling on President Johnson to "frankly admit" they were spying in North Korean territorial waters "and sincerely apologize."

The Korean Central News Agency said the letter was signed by Capt. Lloyd M. Bucher, the skipper of the U.S. Navy intelligence-gathering ship, and the 81 surviving members of his crew. One other crewman was reported killed when North Korean navy boats captured the Pueblo off the east coast of North Korea on Jan. 23.

The North Koreans claimed the Pueblo was in their territorial waters. The United States said the ship was in international waters.

The Communist agency said the ship's crew wrote the President "to request your assistance in our repatriation."

It said the letter listed five points at which the Pueblo trespassed in North Korean waters "in order to obtain electronic and visual intelligence." They were 9.8 miles from Kai Tan, north of Chongjin; 11.2 miles from Orang Dan, 10.75 miles and 11.3 miles from Nan Do, east of Songjin; 8.2 miles from Ansong Kap, in the Mayang Do area, and 7.6 miles from Yo Do, in the Wonsan area.

copper producers involved in the prolonged strike to a late-afternoon White House meeting.

"I shall request the parties to resume collective bargaining negotiations on an around-the-clock basis with the assistance of the secretaries of defense, labor and commerce," the President said Friday in calling the meeting.

Saying there is "no foreseeable prospect" that the companies and unions might otherwise settle their differences soon, Johnson warned the strike could "begin to have a substantial effect on our defense effort."

Some 50,000 workers in 22 states are striking four major producers: Kennecott, American Smelting & Refining, Anaconda and Phelps Dodge.

Slalavating the issue is a union demand for companywide bargaining—a demand the companies have refused even to discuss.

The unions want to make each company deal simultaneously with all unions representing its workers at all its facilities in several states, with a common contract expiration date for all unions.

Wages and fringe benefits also are at issue, with the strikers seeking a package similar to the $1.07 an hour recently granted by U.S. Metals Refining Co., Carteret, N.J., when it settled with its striking workers.

White House-sponsored bargaining sessions have led to settlement of recent strikes in such industries as steel, railroads and airlines.

Officers Feel Clifford Will Consult Them

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senior military officers are predicting new Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford will consult them earlier in the decision-making process than did Robert S. McNamara.

Throughout his seven years as defense chief, McNamara contended he consulted the Joint Chiefs of Staff often and that they were brought in on the formation of policy more than ever before.

But military leaders complained that their views were solicited by the civilians, in effect, only after the course of action had pretty much been decided.

One member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff said privately, "McNamara relied mostly on his systems analysts and other civilians on his staff for advice," and that JCS members were asked to comment after the "scenario" was set.

The implication of these and similar remarks was that senior military officers anticipate the influence of the civilian "whiz kids" will be downgraded under Clifford, and that he will lean more on the chiefs for counsel.

Both Clifford, who was sworn in last Friday, and President Johnson have indicated they expect the top civilian control of the armed services to remain as firm as it became under McNamara.

Johnson pointedly stated that "control of the military will reside firmly and forever in hands of men that are directly responsible to the people."

This was interpreted as a warning to the generals and admirals not to challenge Clifford's supremacy.

During his Senate confirmation hearing Jan. 25, Clifford was asked whether he had any doubt about the "authority of the secretary of defense to control the decisions" of his department or the subordinate parts of it.

"No, sir," said Clifford firmly.

"These last seven years have been an interesting illustration of the ability of the secretary of defense to utilize the powers that presently exist in order to make the principal decisions," he added.

Clifford played a pivotal role in drafting the legislation under which the armed services were brought together under a unified Defense Department more than two decades ago.

It is unlikely that the generals and admirals would undertake any overt challenge. But there has been speculation the armed services might try to test the new secretary's mettle and his determination to retain a tight rein on the military.

Senior officers also predict Clifford will undertake a kind of missionary work with Congress before the administration proposes new programs. McNamara's technique, they said, was to present the facts and figures at a formal hearing, with no attempt at informal personal lobbying on Capitol Hill.

Congressmen like a little personal attention from the secretary of defense," said a member of the JCS. "McNamara couldn't bring himself to do this."

Some top military men said they think Clifford, a long-time attorney and Washington political pro, will use what one general called "lawyer's logic" in dealing with Congress rather than laying down McNamara-type statistics and cost-effectiveness data.

Jim: "Here is a hand illustrating several interesting points in bidding. I was West, playing rubber bridge, and there is nothing remarkable about my diamond overcall."

Oswald: "No, there wasn't. East sure came in with a brilliant double of three no-trump. Who was he?"

Jim: "Payne Harrison of Dallas. He knew that my vulnerable minor suit overcalls are always decent hands, and he also knew that North was an overbidder. Furthermore, he wanted me to open either hearts or diamonds, not to try something unusual."

Oswald: "There we have several good points. Payne didn't have much of a double and most people wouldn't consider any action at all with his four points, but Payne possesses one characteristic of all great rubber bridge players. He has a nose for figuring out when his opponents are stepping out."

Jim: "No question about it. No guarantee went with the double, but look what he collected as a result. I opened the nine of diamonds rather than the 10, since I wanted to see if Payne held the jack. He played it. South looked disgusted and then ran off his spades and three top clubs. I had to discard a diamond on the third spade, but once South took his seventh trick we had the rest and picked up 1,000 points instead of the mere 200 that a pass by Payne would have given us."

Oswald: "Let's see what other lessons this hand should teach us. The first lesson is that North should not have redoubled. He did have 12 high card points, but they weren't the right kind. Seven of them were his spade honors and they would have been far better if he had a small spade to back them up, since that little spade would have been one sure trick."

Jim: "The final point is that, when someone like Payne Harrison doubles you, it pays to be very careful about redoubling. These good players know what they are doing."

THE WELL CHILD

Thoroughly Safety Check Playground Equipment

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

It will soon be time for your child to put away his sled and start clambering about on an outdoor play gym. According to studies by the National Safety Council, not all such equipment is safe. You must always bear in mind that small children are not able to judge what constitutes a potential hazard.

Even so commonplace a device as a swing can cause serious injury to a toddler who gets in its way when it is in full motion, with or without an occupant. Portable back yard swings have been known, when overloaded, to tip over. Some children unhook the swing seat and climb the supporting chain so that they can slide down again. This is fine exercise and develops climbing skill but, if the chain ends in an open "S" hook, the slide may cause a nasty laceration. Whether you buy outdoor play equipment or allow your child to use a community playground, you should assure yourself that the construction is substantial enough to take a lot of hard usage. The ends of all tubing should be smooth and capped with rounded durable metal. All slides should have smooth rounded edges. Slide steps should be flat with nonskid surfaces. Swings should be hung on heavy chains with no "S" hooks, and their seats should be of plastic material with no sharp edges. All equipment should be securely fastened to prevent tipping over and should be rustproof. It should be checked weekly for stability, excessive wear and loss of moving parts. Whenever possible, supervise preschool children when they are on the playground. Teach them the proper use and limitations of the equipment.

Q—My daughter, 9, is very high-strung. She has a respiratory allergy. Our doctor is giving her Periaclin and Doxan. Do these drugs have any side effects?

A—Periaclin is an antihistamine. It may cause drowsiness which disappears after three or four days of administration. Other side effects include dry mouth, dizziness, nausea and nervous tension. The fact that your daughter is high-strung may be the result of taking this drug or may be due to some emotional difficulties.

Doxan is a laxative and should not be given in the presence of abdominal pain or nausea. Prolonged use is to be avoided. It is always better to regulate the bowels with vegetables and fruit.
